

ABSTRACT

A vertical stack of semiconductor devices is formed by folding a strip-like flexible interconnector assembled with integrated circuit chips, packages and/or passive components and attaching coupling members solderable to other parts (FIGs. I4A and I4B).

20250707 10:00:00